Superfast Broadband Solutions

Each table in this document lists suppliers who have indicated to the Scottish Broadband Voucher Scheme that they have existing coverage in a particular Local Authority area.

Clicking on a supplier's name will take you directly to their website, where you can find out what products and services they offer and how to contact them.

In each table, the type of broadband solutions offered by suppliers are indicated. These are:

Full Fibre	Fibre to the Premises/Home (FTTP/H)
Broadband to the vast majority of properties in Scotland, in both urban and rural areas, involves fibre to the cabinet in your street, then copper between the last stretch from the cabinet to your house. This is called "partial fibre". Many rural properties have "exchange only" lines, meaning copper runs all the way from the exchange to the property. Full Fibre is when the connection from the exchange all the way to the inside of your property is a fibre optic cable. This enables you to receive any speed of broadband up to 1,000 Mbps (1 Gigabit per second), and is future-proofed for and capable of even faster speeds.
Fixed Wireless	Fixed wireless broadband
Fixed wireless broadband is an outdoor wireless network, just like WiFi in your home but over greater distances, from a few hundred metres to many kilometres. Fixed wireless broadband can deliver a one-to-one connection between two buildings or structures (for example from a farm house to a farm office) or a one-to-many network connecting dozens of homes from a single transmitter. Common speeds for fixed wireless networks range between 30 Mbps and 100 Mbps. However, they are capable of much faster speeds over considerable distances, and Gigabit speeds over short distances of around 300 metres as a one-to-many network.
Fixed Mobile	Fixed mobile or cellular broadband (e.g. 4G)
Fixed mobile is a method of getting internet access using one of the UK's four mobile networks (EE, Vodafone, O2 and Three) or from the many virtual mobile operators (listed here) that use one of the four main networks. Instead of using your mobile phone as a temporary "hot spot" for connecting laptops or TVs, the idea of "fixed mobile" is that you install a special WiFi router with a mobile SIM card in it, and an external aerial in a suitable location outdoors. This installation would be more permanently fixed in place than a mobile phone.
Sat'	Satellite broadband
Satellite broadband or satellite internet access uses a dish on your home to connect to communications satellites in space, just like a dish for Freesat or Sky television. Until recently, satellite broadband offerings have been slow and limited. Something called "latency" makes common internet activities, such as making voice or video calls and gaming, difficult. This is due to the delays in sending your information up to space and back again. However, there have been some recent advances to make satellite technology more suitable for connecting you to the internet.
